From the Boston Gazette.

Thy Foes a fruitleſs hand invade,
Thy Friends afford a timid aid,
And yield up half thy Right;
E'en LOCK beams forth a mingl'd ray,
On man's too feeble ſight.

Hence are the motly ſyſtems fram'd,
Of Right tranſfer'd, of Pow'r reclaim'd,
Diſtinctions weak and vain;
Wiſe nature mocks the wrangling herd,
For unreclaim'd and unanſwer'd,
Her Powers and Rights remain. ANON.

THE magnanimous and laudable ſtand this continent has lately made for the preſervation of its juſt Rights, will make a ſhining page in the hiſtory of America, unleſs it ſhould be now tarniſh'd thro' a puſillanimous, or, as ſome call it, prudent conduct, at this critical juncture.—I confeſs I am not without fears, leſt we ſhould thus debaſe ourſelves, when I hear ſuch doctrines as the following, come from the other ſide of the water, and daily advanced here, if not with approbation, yet without ſuitable indignation,—That the oppoſition to the Stamp-Act has been the oppoſition of lawleſs ſisters.—That this continent has juſtly merited the ſevereſt uſage from Great-Britain.—That through lenity and indulgence (not becauſe it was juſt) the Stamp-Act was repealed.—That we have obtained all we could deſire, and therefore ought to be content.—That the higheſt gratitude is due to the Parliament, for their tenderneſs and generoſity, tho' at the ſame time, they have declared their right to take away our Property, without our conſent, or in other words, to make ſlaves of us at pleaſure.—That we ſhould not even liſp a doubt of that right, leſt ſuch a train of ill conſequences ſhould follow, as are eaſier imagined than deſcribed.—In ſhort, That we ſhould tacitly acknowledge ourſelves to have been in the wrong, by prudently accepting their declaration of right, to make LAWS binding on the colonies IN ALL CASES WHATSOEVER, humbly expreſſing our gratitude for ſo much unmerited goodneſs and condeſcenſion.—If I might be permitted without offence, to give my ſentiments, I ſhould think the following doctrines more worthy a Britiſh American Creed—That GEORGE the 3d (whom GOD preſerve) is and can be King but of a free People—That this title is his chief glory, and from this he receives the greateſt luſtre—That a free people, or Engliſh ſubjects have RIGHTS—That the firſt and greateſt of thoſe Rights is, that no power can LEGALLY tax them without their own conſent in perſon, or by repreſentatives—That whatever pretences a people may make to freedom, if they dare not aſſert, ſupport, and, if need be, defend their Rights, THEY ARE NOT FREE—That whenever it is dangerous for a free people to aſſert their Rights, it is a ſure ſign the rights themſelves are in danger—That the moſt open and bold aſſertions of them, can never juſtly offend any one; and therefore, that it is no crime, but rather our indiſpenſable duty as Engliſhmen, at all times to aſſert them; and more eſpecially when they are called in queſtion by an auguſt body, and the greateſt and moſt valuable of them abſolutely denied us—God forbid that I ſhould ever harbour the leaſt deſire to foment without cauſe, diſcontent or uneaſineſs; neither would I alarm my neighbour with the cry of fire at ſight of his chimney in flames, though in that caſe it might be prudent to warn him: But I cannot be ſilent, when I ſee the fire ſecretly conſuming the foundation of his houſe, and deſtruction hanging over his head. If America is convinced ſhe has been wrong during the whole oppoſition to the ſtamp act, or in other words, in a ſtate of rebellion for this year paſt, I grant in that caſe we have been treated with the utmoſt lenity and indulgence by the Britiſh legiſlature; but ſhould we be ſtill certain, that we have a good title to the Liberties of Engliſhmen, Never, never let us forfeit them, by our ſilence at this juncture. It cannot, it will not offend any man, or body of men, to hear us with decent boldneſs aſſert our freedom, unleſs they deſire to make ſlaves of us—The only queſtion then is, whether we will conſent to our ſlavery, by keeping a timid and daſtardly ſilence, when our rights are openly challenged, or with a ſpirit worthy our anceſtors, worthy the name of FREEMEN, reſolutely aſſert them. Be not ſeduced—Countrymen; he who quietly hears another aſſert he is no freeman, tacitly acknowledges himſelf to be a ſlave—What ſhall we ſay then of thoſe who would not have us declare ourſelves Freemen, leſt we ſhould thereby call in queſtion a declaration of Parliament, which, theſe ſay, does not at preſent affect us, and which they would make us believe, our old reſolves will be a ſufficient barrier againſt? Liſten not to ſuch artful tales, for thoſe very people who now talk in this ſtrain, will be the firſt hereafter, who will tell you the declaration of Right cannot but ſtand good: You muſt be ſuppoſed to have receded from your reſolves as not tenable, becauſe you did not re-aſſert them after ſo public a denial. Be not lulled aſleep by ſuch cunningly deviſed fables. Let it never be ſaid America gave ſuch a handle to future ſycophants to enſlave them. Let it never be ſaid America, by her ſilence, acquieſced with the act "for ſecuring the dependence of the colonies," or, more properly, taxing them at pleaſure: Rather let every Houſe of Aſſembly on the Continent, aſſert with manly fortitude, thoſe Rights, it is not in their power to alienate. Let them with decency, proteſt againſt every aſſertion, as well as attempt, to the contrary, except they think their Liberties not worth preſerving.—To this end, it would not be amiſs, for every town to inſtruct their reſpective members of aſſembly to conduct themſelves in this important affair, as worthy repreſentatives of a free people.—I flatter myſelf, as the Americans never have, ſo they never will give ſufficient reaſon, to have their duty and loyalty to the KING, and their conſtitutional obedience to PARLIAMENT called in queſtion; but at the ſame time, never let us paſs in ſilence, and ſit contentedly and hear, our BIRTHRIGHT denied us, and put it in the power of our enemies hereafter to ſay, You, in the year One thouſand ſeven hundred and ſixty ſix, by your ſilence, when the parliamentary declaration of Right to tax you, without your own conſent, was laid before your ſeveral aſſemblies, tacitly gave up your Right of taxing yourſelves, to that auguſt body, at a time, when your pretenſions to Liberty ran the higheſt; and when, if ever, you would have certainly oppoſed againſt ſuch a declaration of the Britiſh Parliament. Rather I beſeech you, let poſterity, when they ſhall read the hiſtory of theſe times, and your future reſolutions, be able to ſay, the AMERICANS, when in danger of Slavery, acted worthy the name of FREEMEN; and when their Liberties were ſecure, lived peaceable, contented and happy, conducting themſelves in all reſpects as LOYAL Britiſh ſubjects.

YOURS, ALGERNOON SIDNEY.

LONDON, JULY 17.

They write from Gibraltar, that a Swediſh frigate, pierced to mount 30 guns, built at Gottenburgh, and laden with naval ſtores, was arrived there, bound to Corſica, for the ſervice of Paſchal Paoli.

JULY 19.

It is aſſerted, in ſome private letters from the continent, that a certain northern potentate is deſirous of his friendſhip, and put under confinement.

JULY 22.

It is ſaid a plan has been ſtruck out for taking off, next ſeſſions, the duties on ſalt, candles, and perter, and laying it on other articles, which will not in the leaſt affect the lower claſs of people, and will hardly be felt by thoſe of ſuperior rank.

Letters from Vienna, mention the arrival there of the Marquis de Caſtries, lieutenant-general in the armies of the King of France; ſince which there was a talk of a negotiation being on foot for a marriage between the Dauphin and the youngeſt of the Archduceſſes.

Theſe letters add, that the news had been received there of a great advantage gained by Prince Heraclius over the Ottoman army, commanded by the Pachas of Natolia and Scutari.

JULY 24.

We hear that the Shannon man of war, now at Portſmouth, is to join the Dolphin in a certain latitude, in order to proceed upon new diſcoveries in the South Seas.

JULY 26.

Letters from Genoa ſay, "Several particulars have been handed about here for ſome time paſt, as to many marks of a ſtrong animoſity, which it is pretended ſubſiſts between the chief of the Corſican rebels and the Count de Marbeuf, of which there is not even a ſhadow of poſſibility. It is certain that all the treaty concluded between the court of France and the ſenate, his moſt Chriſtian majeſty only engages to guard with his forces the Genoeſe places in the iſle; to employ his mediation for bringing about an accommodation between the republic and the Corſicans; and laſtly, to grant them his guaranty."

It is ſaid, that a bill will be brought into parliament the next ſeſſion, appointing elections for members of parliament to be by ballot; which, it is thought, will almoſt totally prevent all future corruption on ſuch occaſions, as it will be impoſſible to know on which ſide an elector votes, and conſequently render candidates extremely cautious whom they truſt with a bribe.

Authentic advices has been received at Paris of the death of Elizabeth Farneſe, the Queen Dowager of Spain, and mother of the preſent King. Her Majeſty was of the Houſe of Parma, and was born the 25th of October 1692. Her iſſue, beſides the King, is the Infant Don Lewis, born July 23d, 1727, and the Infanta Donna Maria Antonietta, born November 17, 1729, and eſpouſed on the 12th of April 1750, to his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Savoy.

JULY 29.

They write from Leghorn, that the French ſtill continue to ſtrip the foreſts of Corſica of their moſt valuable timber, which is exported in great quantities from Breſt and Toulon; nor can the Corſicans prevent it, as the auxiliary troops are in poſſeſſion of that part of the iſland where ſhip timber grows in greateſt perfection.

JULY 31.

The diſſatisfactory manner in which the Americans appear to receive the news of the repeal of the Stamp Act does them very great honour, and effectually ſatisfies the meaſure. The nation will receive advantages from it; the miniſtry ſome credit; and great honour will accrue to thoſe who in ſo diſtinguiſhed a manner took the lead in accompliſhing it. The firſt [illegible] that tax, and oppoſers of its abolition, muſt now become doubly odious, both as Statеſmen and patriots, or rather in their pretenſions to either character, which can never more be allowed them; for it is diſgraceful to talk wrong meaſures, it muſt be infamous to aim at ſupporting them, when they are diſcovered to be wrong.

Among other promotions talked of, it is ſaid, the right hon. Sir John Cuſt, Speaker of the Houſe of Commons, is to be created a Peer.

And the right hon. William Dowdeſwell, to be Speaker of the Houſe of Commons.

AUGUST 3.

It is ſaid, with ſome confidence, that the preſents and emoluments given by the Mogul to the Eaſt-India company, will be claimed by the parliament as national property.

It is now well known for a fact that the late great political changes have been brought about by Lord E—e, aſſiſted by the Earl of N—h—n.

AUGUST 5.

Saturday morning the hon. Sir Francis Blake Delaval, knight of the Bath, tried the experiment of his new invented Plaiſon, the other ſide of Weſtminſter bridge, when he put his horſes in full gallop, and in a moment, by pulling a ſtring, the horſes galloped off, and left him in the carriage which ſtood ſtill.

We hear the exportation of proviſions from Ireland to the foreign colonies, will ſoon be laid under ſome particular reſtrictions.

Care has been taken to tranſmit to the colonies the moſt early intelligence of the late great changes, in order to prevent bad impreſſions.

It is ſaid a ſtop is put to the making of a ſtatue which was intended to be erected to the honour of a great perſonage.

The right hon. William Campbell, youngeſt ſon of the Duke of Argyle, will ſet out in a few days, with his lady and family, for Portſmouth, in order to embark for his government of Nova Scotia.

We hear that Lord George Sackville has reſigned his place of Vice Treaſurer of Ireland.

AUGUST 7.

We hear, that in the projected voyage of the Dolphin man of war, it will be attempted to make a diſcovery what land is to be met with to the north-eaſt of the Philippines, as far as the latitude of ſixty degrees, from whence to come about to the ſouth to California; and whether Nova Zembla is an iſland adjoining to the Main, or the inlets of Hudſon's Bay have any opening to the Weſt Sea.

It is currently reported, that the new, virtuous and patriotic Ad——n, has ſet out in the following manner, viz. The E——l of N——n has an augmentation of 1000 l. per ann. to the ſalary of P——t of the c——l, which is raiſed from 4 to 5000 l. per ann.—As a further recompence for his long and faithful ſervices, he has obtained a reverſion to himſelf for two lives of the Hanaper office in chancery; and if he ſhould be removed before that drops, is to have, what is called in terms of art, a floating or proxy ſignal reverſion of ſome [illegible] in chancery, juſt before he quitted that court. N. B. All this is over and above the tellerſhip of the exchequer enjoyed by his ſon.

We hear that ſuch a ſurprizing light has juſt now iſſued from the Temple of Liberty at Stowe, as will be of the utmoſt importance in diſcovering the true drift of ſome late ſecret negotiations between the Thane and the Patriot, and will, it is ſaid, ſet the whole tranſaction in ſo plain and clear a point of view as the dulleſt perſon will eaſily diſcern the policy of the one, and the patriotiſm of the other.

It is conjectured, that the Earl of Bute's politics, both abroad and at home, will appear very conſpicuous; that his extricating us from foreign connections will turn out to his honour; and that a few months will make appear who has been the beſt politician for Great-Britain, the Earl of Bute, or the new Earl of Chatham.

It's thought that Mr. Pitt's acceptance of a peerage, will once more unite the Engliſh and Scotch, on the ſame permanent foundation, as before the Earl of Bute's coming into power.

This week a great number of implements proper for the cultivation of raw ſilk, were ſhipped, on commiſſion, for Lieutenant Governor Bull, of South-Carolina.

According to the laſt advices, the number of perſons killed and wounded in the late earthquake at Conſtantinople, amounts to ten thouſand.

Notwithſtanding people may think they have ſufficient cauſe to ſuſpect the Patriotiſm of a certain great man, yet, for many ſtrong reaſons, improper to be divulged at preſent, we are firmly perſuaded, his conduct will convince them, at the meeting of parliament, that the Pi——ge hath not in the leaſt diminiſhed the zeal or integrity of the Patriot.

We hear that Lord North is appointed Paymaſter General of His Majeſty's forces, in the room of the hon. Charles Townſhend.

AUGUST

We hear there will be ſoon ſtruck at the Tower, fifty tons of half-pence and farthings, for the uſe of the American colonies.

We hear that Mr. Charles Townſend's lady will be created a Counteſs; and in ſuch caſe, it is alſo ſaid, that Lord Townſend will be created an Earl.

Extract from A ſhort account of a late SHORT ADMINISTRATION.

THE late Adminiſtration came into employment under the mediation of the Duke of Cumberland, on the 10th of July 1765; and was removed, upon a plan ſettled by the Earl of Chatham, on the 30th day of July 1765, having laſted juſt one year and twenty days.

In that ſpace of time

The diſtractions of the Britiſh Empire were compoſed, by The repeal of the American Stamp-Act;

But the conſtitutional ſuperiority of Great Britain was preſerved, by The act for ſecuring the dependance of the colonies.

Private houſes were relieved from the juriſdiction of the exciſe, by The repeal of the cyder tax.

The perſonal liberty of the ſubject was confirmed, by The reſolution againſt general warrants.

The lawful ſecrets of buſineſs and friendſhip were rendered inviolable, by The reſolution for condemning the ſeizures of papers.

The trade of America was ſet free from injudicious and ruinous impoſitions.—Its revenue was improved, and ſettled upon a rational foundation.—Its commerce extended with foreign countries; while all the advantages were secured to Great-Britain, by The act for repealing certain duties, and encouraging, regulating, and securing the trade of this kingdom, and the British dominions in America.

Materials were provided and insured to our manufacturers.—The sale of manufactures was encreased.—The African trade preserved and extended.—The principles of the act of navigation pursued, and the plan improved.—And the trade for bullion rendered free, secure and permanent, by The act for opening certain ports in Dominica and Jamaica.

Whilst that administration provided for the liberty and commerce of their country, as the true basis of its power, they consulted its interests, they asserted its honour abroad, with temper and firmness; by making an advantageous treaty of commerce with Russia; by obtaining a liquidation of the Canada bills, to the satisfaction of the proprietors; by reviving and raising from its ashes the negotiation for the Manilla ransom, which had been extinguished and abandoned by their predecessors.

They treated their sovereign with decency; with reverence. They discountenanced, and, it is hoped, for ever abolished the dangerous and unconstitutional practice of removing military officers for their votes in parliament. They firmly adhered to those friends of liberty, who had run all hazards in its cause, and provided for them in preference of every other claim.

With the Earl of Bute they had no personal connection; no correspondence of councils. They neither courted him nor persecuted him. They practised no corruption; nor were they even suspected of it. They sold no offices. They obtained no reversions or pensions, either coming in or going out, for themselves, their families, or their dependants.

It is determined that the Temple of Liberty at Stowe, notwithstanding the gothicness of its structure, shall be worn out without being Butefied.

AUGUST 12.

Saturday's Gazette contains the addresses of thanks to his Majesty, on the repeal of the American stamp-act, of the governor and council of Pennsylvania, and counties of Newcastle, Kent, and Sussex, on Delaware; of the representatives of the Freemen of Pennsylvania; of his Majesty's council of the province of Massachusetts Bay; of the representatives of the colony of New-Jersey; and of the members of the council of that province; which were presented to the King by the Earl of Shelburne, and very graciously received by his Majesty.

AUGUST 16.

By recent advices from Dunkirk, we are assured, that the harbour is no further destroyed than can be repaired at the expence of ten thousand pounds, in the space of six weeks.

We hear that his Royal Highness Prince Henry Frederick, third brother to his Majesty, who comes of age in November next, will certainly be created a Duke before the meeting of an august assembly.

We hear orders are sent over to Ireland for the several regiments on that establishment to be augmented.

AUGUST 23.

Both houses of parliament, it is thought, will meet in November next, for the dispatch of business, that the session may end in March, or beginning of April, so as to allow the members to have full time to meet their constituents before the general election, which, it is reported, will be in May next.

Yesterday the Earl of Chatham had the honour of a conference with his Majesty.

It is asserted, that two right honourable commoners are [illegible]

Nine new sloops of war are ordered to be built at Chatham and Sheerness, for the government service.

A few days since died, at Pretty-Villa, in the county of Tipperary, in Ireland, colonel Thomas Winslow, in the 96th year of his age. He was a captain in the reign of King Charles I. and went with Oliver Cromwell, a lieutenant colonel, into that kingdom. He lived remarkably temperate, never married, nor drank to excess; he was a near relation to the late brigadier Neville, and has left all his fortune, except 200 l. to charitable uses.

Last Saturday morning died, at her lodgings, near the Broadway in Deptford, aged 96 years, Mrs. Mary Lubome, relict of Capt. Lubome, formerly in the East India service, who, for upwards of 40 years has lived in Greenwich and Deptford, in the most penurious manner; first even denied herself every necessary of life, wearing cloaths that would scarcely hide her nakedness, and those covered with vermin; has not been known to have had any fire, or even lighted candle, in her apartment for four years past, nor either to wear a shift, or lie in a sheet. She frequently begged on the high road, when she went on business to London, and was also very light fingered, having been detected in pilfering the most trifling things divers times. Notwithstanding her wretched way of life, on opening her drawers, chests, &c. by her relations, there were found, as is strongly supposed, securities in the bank, South Sea, East-India, and other stocks, to the amount of 40,000 l. and upwards, besides jewels, and other precious stones, plate, china, cloaths of every kind of the richest sort, great quantities of the finest silks, linen, velvets, &c. not made up, to a very great value, besides a large sum of money.

The right hon. Lord Chatham, we hear, has proposed a scheme to raise one million, one hundred and fifty thousand pounds sterling, exclusive of what may be wanted for the service of the ensuing year, in order to look the unfunded debt in the face.

A coalition, highly interesting, is said to be bringing about between two great personages.

Extract of a letter from an English gentleman at Paris, to his friend in London.

"This court seems determined upon the reduction of Corsica, having ordered French forces for that purpose. It is whispered that their real intent is to conquer it for themselves, while others say that, by a secret treaty, the Genoese had ceded part of the island to them, in consideration of their giving sufficient and immediate assistance to reduce the Rebels.——People wonder that our English ministry don't consider how prejudicial it would be to their trade, that the French should get footing in Corsica, as this would render Port-Mahon and Gibraltar in a great measure useless to them in time of war, the only time these places are of importance. I will not say as some do, that we can, and therefore ought to make ourselves masters of Corsica; but I am humbly of opinion, that we ought to prevent its being conquered by any other nation, not excepting even the Genoese, who can neither conquer nor retain it, without entering into an alliance with France or some other nation, which would be detrimental to us."

They write from Toulon, that several crown engineers were set out to superintend some strong works, erecting by the French in Quiberon Bay, intended for the security of L'Orient.

They write from Cadiz, that admiral Navarro had arrived there to command the marine department, which already consists of 19 men of war of the line. The arsenals and magazines are full of all kinds of naval stores.

It is said that a celebrated Exile will certainly visit his native country this winter.

A few days since the rudder of the Victory, which was lost twenty years ago, and under the command of admiral Balchen, was towed on shore by some fishermen in Brighthelmstone. The rudder measured 25 feet in length, and 2331b. of iron was taken off it. 'Tis thought she was lost off the coast of Guernsey.

We are assured that the Earl of Bristol is appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, in the room of Lord Hertford; and that Lord Hertford will be appointed master of the horse, in the room of the Duke of Rutland, who resigns in consequence of the late promotion of the Marquis of Granby.

They write from Petersburgh, that deputies from the English company of merchants had been appointed to set out by the 15th of August, for settling a correspondence at the several ports on the Caspian sea.

For the last fortnight the workmen in the dock yards at Plymouth have been employed double time in getting ready for use the ships of war intended to replace those daily arriving from foreign stations.

It is said, that the Earl of Chatham will have the first vacant blue ribbon.

Private letters from Lisbon advise, that the vigorous measures pursued by England for a redress of grievances, would probably occasion some important removes in the ministry of Portugal.

They write from Gibraltar, that the Turks are engaging a great number of foreign ships, principally English and Dutch, in all the principal ports of the Mediterranean, to be employed in transporting troops and warlike stores to the isle of Cyprus and other ports of the Levant, which were threatened with a revolt.

SEPTEMBER 9.

The King of Prussia, according to private letters from the continent, is absolutely deprived of his reason. The fit of insanity seized him on May as he was walking with his brother Prince Henry at Potsdam; he caught a fire-lock from one of the guards, and presented it at the Prince, but having was prevented from discharging it; since which he has been confined under the care of several physicians. It is added, that if he does not shortly recover, the Prince Royal will take upon himself the government of the kingdom.

We hear there will be soon struck at the Tower, fifty tons of half pence and farthings for the use of the American colonies.

Yesterday the Earl of Chatham was so well recovered as to ride out for the benefit of the air.

On Saturday a great council was held at Cockpit, Whitehall; at which were present the lord president (who came from Grange on Friday night) the Archbishop of Canterbury, the lord high chancellor, the two principal secretaries of state, and most of the other great officers. And the principal subject of their deliberation was the putting a stop to the further exportation of corn out of the kingdom. The lord privy seal not being able to attend, we hear, sent his opinion in writing on that interesting subject.

It is said among other things, the right hon. Hans Stanley will be charged with a special commission to the court of Russia, to further improve the commercial interests of the subjects of both nations.

We are informed a state of affairs of the Hudson's Bay company is here, ready to be laid before an august assembly.

It is asserted, that M. Durand, charged with the affairs of France, in the absence of the Count de Guerchy, has, this week, received full powers from his court, to settle some material differences between the two crowns, which have subsisted for a considerable time past.

There is a report that a great person, lately come into power, intends to perfect what he began during last war, but which the exigencies of the times obliged him then to desist from, viz. The examination into all the sinecures and useless offices in many public offices, in order, by striking them off, to make a considerable saving to the nation.

Private letters from Genoa mention, that the contract for building ships of war for the French service being expired, the republic had declined to renew the same, from the apprehensions of incurring the displeasure of another court, from whose minister representations had been made on the subject.

Hampstead is now become the seat of politicks; meetings of the principal officers of the state, to confer with Lord Chatham, being held there almost every day.

SEPTEMBER 11.

The late Sir John Langham, who died last week at his seat in Northamptonshire, has left 6000 l. to be distributed to distressed soldiers and seamen, by the Lord-Mayor and Aldermen of this city.

Extract of a letter which came by the last packet from LISBON.

"A prodigious hot dry summer, which has succeeded a very rainy spring, has generally ruined the crops of corn throughout the southern parts of Italy, except Sicily, which has been abundant; but as the kingdom of Naples has been rather deficient, the exportation from thence is prohibited; the Roman state has entirely failed, and the high price of bread in Rome has already occasioned tumults. Tuscany is not in a much better situation; for upon an account taken of all the corn in the state, by commissioners appointed by the Grand Duke, there is found upon the whole only corn for the month of October, and the price is already just double to what is usual, and it is universally feared the scarcity will be greater than three years ago. Our chief dependance is on Old England, where I hope there will be sufficient to supply both you and us."

A committee of merchants trading to Portugal, will this week attend the levee of one of his Majesty's principal secretaries of state, on affairs of importance.

We have advice from Lisbon, that by the new treaty of commerce with England, the manufactures of Great Britain would be exported on board the register ships for the Bahias, St. Salvador, Rio de Janeiro, and the other Portuguese settlements in South America, hitherto principally supplied by the French, Dutch, and Genoese.

Accounts are just received, by way of Leghorn, of some further advantages having been gained over the Turkish forces by Prince Heraclius; but no mention is made of particulars.

SEPTEMBER 13.

Thursday there was a court at St. James's, at which his Majesty was present; there were likewise present the ladies Northumberland and Bolingbroke, the Duke of Bolton, the Sardinian Ambassador and his lady, lady Chatham, lord Shelburne, and several others.

Yesterday Dr. Hume, Bishop of Salisbury, did homage to his Majesty, on his being translated to that See.

The Earl of Chatham has had a relapse, occasioned by catching cold on Tuesday, and was yesterday very ill.

SEPTEMBER 16.

On Saturday the Dutchess of Ancaster arrived in town, to attend her Majesty in her lying-in.

Mrs. Johnston, who was nurse to his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, is appointed nurse to her Majesty, and is come in waiting.

On Saturday the Right Hon. Hans Stanley, Esq; set out on his embassy to the court of Russia.

Friday the Earl of Shelburne, and some others of the great officers of state, paid a visit to Lord Chatham at North End.

Yesterday the Earl of Northington arrived in town from the Grange.

Yesterday the Lord Chancellor paid a visit to Lord Chatham at North end, and was some hours in conversation with his Lordship.

Some gentlemen have lately gone over to New-York, and other provinces in North-America, to claim lands given to their predecessors, by royal grant, almost a century ago, but never properly put in possession. On the estate of one gentleman, it is said, Elizabeth-Town is built, which will turn out of great value to him.—It is probable this may give the American lawyers some business.

Friday while a custom-house officer was searching some hampers of eggs imported from Dunkirk, he discovered an artificial one turned of ivory, full of the richest Brussels point lace, and in the progress of his examination found several more of the same sort, from which a considerable seizure was collected.

Some folks, who are not easily wrought upon by vague reports, do think, that things are so far from being firmly settled in the several departments of national business, as to admit of great changes very unexpectedly.

It is said that a packet-boat is going to be established to pass to and from Fishguard and the Isle of Man, for the greater dispatch of correspondence between those two places.

LONDON, SEPTEMBER 18.

Tuesday morning several lords of the privy council paid a visit to the right hon. lord Chatham, at North end, Hampstead.

Yesterday the earl of Chatham was at court, and afterwards assisted at a privy council.

The right hon. the earl of Rochford will set out in a few days on his embassy to the court of France.

Thursday arrived in town, from his seat at Adderbury, in Oxfordshire, the right hon. Charles Townshend, esq; chancellor of the exchequer.

The lords commissioners of the treasury will not meet again to hold any boards till the first of October.

Some letters from Paris say, that orders had been dispatched to delay the embarkation of French troops at Marseilles and Toulon, which were intended to reinforce general Marbœuf in the island of Corsica.

They write from Quebec, that the design formed this summer of penetrating to the gulph of Mexico, by the means of the Mississippi, has been found impracticable, on account of the prodigious number of shoals, rocks, and water falls, discovered in the course of that vast river.

An English nobleman, a few days ago, being in company with a foreigner of distinction, took the opportunity to launch out in praise of the number and magnificence of the new buildings carrying on round this metropolis: To which the other replied, "True, my lord, by the present method of building, one would be led to imagine there were no middling sort of people in the capital."

It is said that the marriage ceremony between the king of Denmark and her royal highness the princess Carolina Matilda, will be celebrated by proxy at the chapel royal at St. James's, the beginning of next month; and that the Danish ambassador will have the honour to be proxy on this occasion.

It is said lord C— has wrote a letter to the privy council, to request they would issue out a proclamation to stop the exportation of corn, and that he would declare himself to be the adviser, at the meeting of the parliament, and abide by the consequences.

We are credibly informed, that the right hon. lord Chatham has formed a scheme to be presented to Parliament, for the improvement of waste and corn lands, for the purpose of keeping up a plentiful breed of cattle, in the kingdom.

It is reported, that near one hundred messengers were dispatched to North-end on Monday, from the nobility and gentry, to enquire after lord Chatham's health.

It is reported that a British squadron will soon make its appearance before Corsica, to give the greater weight to the terms proposed by England, for accommodating matters between those islanders and the Genoese.

It is said that upwards of 20,000 soldiers have been enlisted in this kingdom for the hon. East-India company's service, since the commencement of the late war; which is an extraordinary drain of laborious hands, and is a real loss to the nation, when it is considered that scarce one in 400 ever returns home.

A person of quality from Normandy is now in London, soliciting our court for a portion of land in Canada. He is a protestant, and if he succeeds, intends to settle the lands with French Protestants.

SEPTEMBER 20.

Wednesday the earl of Chatham had the honour of a conference with his Majesty at the Queen's palace, before he went to court.

Thursday the Earl of Chatham was again at court; his lordship is removed from North-end, to his house in Bond-street.

And yesterday morning his lordship set out from his house in Bond-street, for Bath.

Notwithstanding what is continually representing by several writers to the contrary, for what purposes they best know themselves, we can take upon us to assert, from the best information we could possibly obtain, as well as from all the observations which we ourselves have been able to make, that the sudden heat which has been raised in the public mind, by infused suspicions of our great statesman and his collegues in the administration, has almost entirely subsided, and will not be in the power of artifice or deception to renew; it being at present the general declared disposition of men to hope for the best; and wait for measures and events on which opinions may be grounded, without avoiding the imputation of rashness on error.

Count Bothmar, ambassador from Denmark, to this court, is appointed chamberlain to the intended young Danish queen; and his excellency (who has resided in England many years, and remarkably fond of this country) is preparing for his final departure from hence.

Thursday the proclamation for the enforcing and putting into execution the several acts of parliament relating to forestalling, and to oblige the farmers to bring their corn to market, was publickly read at the gate of the royal exchange; as was also the proclamation for calling the parliament together, to sit for dispatch of business, the 11th of November next.

It is now said, that the Earl of Bristol, after kissing hands, on his appointment to the lieutenancy of Ireland (which is to be in a few days) will immediately set out for Dublin to reside there.

In the space of the last six years, there have been three grooms of the stole, five Lords of the treasury, eleven secretaries of state, five first lords of the admiralty, five of trade, and above 50 other changes at the principal boards; so fluctuating have been the councils of this nation.

Some coersive clauses, it is said, will be added next session to the act for preventing bribery and corruption in the election of representatives to serve in parliament.

We hear that to prevent duels for the future, a bill will be brought into an august assembly, to disqualify all persons who either give or accept a challenge from ever holding any places under the government.

We hear that a council is ordered to meet on Wednesday next, on matters of the highest importance; and it is imagined, that the present distress, arising from the excessive price of corn, will be the chief object of deliberation.

It is said the particular privileges of members of parliament will be precisely ascertained, and fully settled at their next meeting.

CARVER'S WHARFF,

BY the many additions and improvements lately made, is the most convenient for clearing rice, &c. &c. The largest ships that come from Carolina can lay afloat at all times of tide, and as the wharff is now covered, rice can be shifted in any weather.—The post going to and from London, every day, makes it very convenient, and skins, indico, or such other goods, as are often sent by land, may be immediately conveyed by waggons to London. Any number of porters may be had in order to dispatch business, and many other advantages attend the proprietors of ships and cargoes, too tedious to mention.

CHARLES-TOWN, November 10, 1766.

NO accident having happened during the Harvest Season, the crop of new Rice may now be reckoned secure, as well as considerable. Sixty barrels were brought to market before the close of the last month (which is much earlier than usual) another parcel the 3d instant, and about 200 barrels since, all sold at Sixty Shillings per 100 lb.

The seasons not having proved so favourable to the Indico plant, this year's produce of the valuable dye made from it, will fall far short of what was expected.

The quantity of Hemp made last year in the back settlements, is, however, far exceeded this, and we are told the quality excellent.—Many of the people in those parts, we hear, have discontinued the planting of Tobacco, as unprofitable, for want of conveyance by water carriage, and instead thereof, this year, raised a great deal of Cotton, of the best kind.

Our crop of corn has fallen so short, that even at this time it is sold at market, for 17 shillings and 6 pence, to 20 shillings per bushel; and there is too much room to apprehend, that if the exportation thereof is not restrained, or put under proper regulations, greater inconveniencies may be felt from the want of that grain, than is at present imagined.

According to the last advices from England, a general a failure of the crops of corn have prevailed almost throughout Italy, and some other parts of Europe (where all possible precautions appear to have been taken, by every sure, to prevent a dreaded famine) as to occasion a very extraordinary demand for grain from Great-Britain, & such an eagerness in many to export it from thence, (altho' their crop has not proved very abundant) as to produce many dangerous tumults and riots, the poor throughout the kingdom.

Wednesday last, being the Anniversary of the glorious Revolution, by the landing of King William, and of the nation's happy deliverance from a horrid Popish Plot, the same was observed here with suitable demonstrations of joy. The hon. Peter Manigault, Esq; Speaker of the Commons House of Assembly, gave upon this occasion, an elegant entertainment to the Light Infantry Company, at his seat at Goose-Creek, 14 miles from Charles-Town, where the company arrived at 7 o'clock in the morning, spent the day most agreeably, and returned before 9 at night.

The snow Britannia, Daniel Campbell, master, from this port for Grenada, having sprung a leak the day after she put to sea, so that they could hardly keep her free, is put back.

We hear, that several plans are actually drawn for a new and elegant Exchange in this Town, and estimates made of the expence of building the same.

A party of Catawba Indians, and another of the Chicasahs, who reside near New-Windsor, have lately been in town, on a visit to his Excellency the Governor, for presents: And a considerable number of Cherokees, we hear, are on their way down upon the same errand.

Mr. Isaac King, of London, merchant, and Doct. Turnbull and family (the latter going to reside in East Florida) arrived here last Wednesday, in the ship Mary, Capt. Gordon, from London.

Saturday the 1st instant died, at Beaufort, Port-Royal, Captain George Perkins, master of the new ship St. Helena, lately launched there.
